

I believe that i did well in a few areas. I believe that i did well with inserting enough media/images that related to my topic. I feel i did well with making it mobile friendly as well as desktop friendly and with that i also feel like i made good use of of the grid system. Lastly i feel i did well with having enough content(information wise) for my site.

There were areas that i could have done better on though.I feel that i could have done better on the actual look of the site. I also feel despite the information i provided i could have worded it better to make it more interesting.